

Dulles and 21 Others To Join Treaty Talks In Bangkok Feb. 23

A 22-member delegation, headed by Secretary of State Dulles, will represent the United States at the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty Conference in Bangkok, beginning February 23.

The State Department announced that Douglas MacArthur, II, its counselor, will serve as co-ordinator for the delegation.

Senior advisors will be Assistant Defense Secretary H. Struve Hensel, assistant Secretaries of State Carl W. McCordle and Walter S. Robertson, John E. Peurifoy, Ambassador to Thailand, and Admiral Felix B. Stump, Commander in Chief of Naval Forces in the Pacific.

Other advisors will be Robert Amory, Norbert L. Anschuetz, James D. Bell, Andrew H. Berding, William J. Galloway, Robert Jantzen.

Also Capt. William T. Kenny, USN; Randolph A. Kidder, Col. Richard F. Silver, USAF; John L. Stegmaier, Charles Sullivan and Kenneth T. Young.

John W. Hanes, jr., will serve as special assistant to Secretary Dulles. Assistants to Mr. Mac-

Arthur will be Morris N. Draper and William H. Gleysteen, jr.

Secretaries of the delegation will be Donald B. Eddy and Bruce Granger.